

At some stage health professionals may be in a situation where they will not be sure of what to say or what to do when the patient they are caring for is approaching the end of life or dying.

The care of patients who cannot be cured, whose disease is progressing, or who are dying, can be emotionally challenging for Doctors, Nurses and Allied Health professionals.

The End-of-Life Essentials free online education modules provide specific learning which is peer reviewed and can be completed in your own time and at your own pace.

The modules cover a range of clinically relevant and evidence-based material about caring for those at the end of life, with tips, advice and educational videos that show common scenarios that health professionals may face.

Dying, a Normal Part of Life

Patient-centred Communication and Shared Decision-Making

Recognising the End-of-Life

Planning End-of-Life Care – Goals of Care

Teams and Continuity for the Patient

Responding to Concerns

Emergency Department End-of-Life Care

Paediatric End-of-Life Care

Chronic Complex Illness End-of-Life Care

Imminent Death – How to Respond

www.endoflifeessentials.com.au